

WHITE LABEL PACKAGING GUIDELINES

BREATHE LIFE SCIENCES

Note From Our Designers

- The design layouts provided serve as examples only. Clients have the freedom to customize label designs according to their preferences. The essential information that must be replicated is highlighted in red throughout this document, including ingredients and health/safety warnings.
- Products are not required to retain the same names as listed in this document. For instance, 'High Strength Balm' could be rebranded as 'Spot Repair' or 'Anti-Inflammatory Cream,' among other options.
- While labels are mandatory, the use of boxes or outer cartons is discretionary.
- Clients seeking personalised packaging or bottle printing are advised to get in touch with their designated sales representative or send an email via the White Label Hub to request a bespoke quote. It's important to note that the minimum order quantity (MOQ) for more customized services are likely to be higher.
- If a client needs assistance or wishes to enlist the services of BLS for label creation, this request must be communicated through the assigned sales representative or the BLS White Label Portal. A customized quote will be provided accordingly.

Print Proof Liability

This is the client's opportunity to check for any mistakes to ensure the final print is correct, which is their responsibility, not ours.

By approving the final proof the client absolves BLS of liability for any discrepancies or errors in the proof.

Any mistakes the client discovers after the client has approved the proof will incur additional costs for correction, which will be passed on to the client. The corrected proof should then be sent to the client for a final check
